Class description

Buying a horse is the easy part. Learn what you need to know to choose the horse that is right for you and what to expect for ongoing care and expenses. This is an ideal course for those considering or planning to become a horse owner and especially young riders who need to understand the commitment. Family members are encouraged to participate

Cut through the clutter of information and learn what you need to know to meet your horse's basic health and nutrition needs, as well as the equipment needed for handling, training and enjoying your horse.

Session 1 making pool noodle horses and going over classes. Session 2 is taking your new horse over the courses; jumping and dressage

I will discuss mini topics that pose liability concerns and how horsemen can mitigate the associated liability risks for each. For example, the WA Equine Activities Statute, fencing, trailering your horse or a friend's, waivers, contracts, insurance, etc.

I will discuss ways that people on both sides of lease or sale transactions can better protect themselves (and the horse) and reduce the risk of liability, including general considerations, contracts, insurance, and more.

Educating youth on trail competition. With Ian Jones NW representative.

How to simplify your dressage tests and overall patterns you have to learn. Teaching the mechanics of the horse's body and how it matches our own to get better results and better scores. Each rider will learn how to become a better rider in learning that dressage is the basis of all training.

Horse Bowl and Hippology, horse knowledge competitions, not only give you another path to national level ranking, but provide a fun way to learn important details about horses and horsemanship plus enhance your "resume". We start with the simple details such as colors, conformation, and tack, move into care details such as feed, poisonous plants, and parasites and then expand to deeper subjects such as genetics and anatomy. This clinic will explain the program, and its benefits and give attendees a chance to test their skills and practice with the buzzers! Horse Bowl/Hippology is a great complement to judging!

Your horse loves treats and treats are expensive, but you can make them at home! During this hands-on clinic, prepare some horse treats and take them home to your friend!

I would like to show some videos (15 min) followed by descriptions of rules and obstacles

Gymnastics, grids etc....

1. Horse and rider focused Leave No Trace Principles for trails and Camping

I have done both classroom style and demonstration style. I was invited by a 4-H member (Kilene Kovich) to teach here if you guys need it! I'm willing to and comfortable to do whatever you'd like. I like working hands on with horses but I'm also fine in a classroom setting with a white board or a projector

Reining basics Reining judging Showing a reiner

Learn the correct way to wrap your horses legs, improper leg wrapping can contribute to lack of support, and pressure being applied to the tendons in a way that can encourage injury. Learn how to correctly protect your best friend.

She is returning for her second year at the Equus Festival, learn how to give your horse their best insides so they can perform their best on the outside.

Cost for this class is an additional $8, when registering choose your font style and horses name and we'll have it cut from the circuit and ready to go. We provide all of the supplies for you to make your best friend a stall plaque.

Learn ways to improve your trail class at the 4-H shows and fair.
